The Mountain Eagle.

Volume 3

Whitesburg, Letcher County, Kentucky, November 11 1909.

Number 11

Letcher County To the Front

Turn to last week's issue of the Eagle, on the front page and at the top and look straight in the eyes of two young men. These two young men have just emerged from a combat that for fierce fighting has never been equaled before on Letcher's soil. The one is a Democrat, the other is a Republican. In big noble hearted manhood they are one and the same, both representatives of the best blood in the mountains; the one as firm as the other, the other as firm as the one. Both are strong types of Letcher's young manhood. Dr. Fitzpatrick is twenty-nine, Monroe Fields soon will be. With all due respect and actual sympathy for those who went down in defeat the Eagle looks up and down the record, over and over the record, 'round and 'round the record, betwixt and between the record, and not a whit is there in it that doesn't reflect credit on these two young men. On Jan. 1 they will become the head and shoulders of Letcher county's varied interests and we believe when they take the solemn obligations required of them on that day every man can rest assured that out of the smoke of combat has come a Moses and no Aaron to lead our people in the best and safest way possible.

In referring to the above officers-elect we do not mean any reflection whatever on any other newly elected officer nor that the future has in any wise suffered in the least. Aside from this we are well satisfied with the men just chosen and believe that every mother's son of them will do his whole duty and further, in our way of seeing it, the officials who go out have been faithful to their every trust.

Good Communication.

Dear Editor,

We arrived at our home in due time after our visit to friends in Letcher and found everything very dull. We will have no crops at all worth mentioning. There are numbers of people getting titles to their places and will sail away. This is a beautiful level country, but the fault is we have no rain. Many are living in hope of getting rain the next season so they can raise crops.

The terrible murder committed here while we were away still attracts great attention. Detectives are working on the case and it is hoped the matter will be ferreted out and the perpetrators of the crime punished.

With love and best wishes for our many friends back in old Letcher, I remain,

S. T. Frazier.

Generally Both Sides to Blame. Quarrels would not last long, if the fault was only on one side.—La Roche fonsault.

LITTLE EAGLET.

Dear Editor,

Can I come into your sanctum and chatter awhile? I live up on the river above Whitesburg where the water is purer than down below. We are having a good school and I am doing my best. I want to learn a whole lot so that sometime I can be a smart man. I'm a Republican but was for Dr. Fitzpatrick, and how glad I am he won you don't know. We all read the Eagle and don't care if it was twice the price. Sometime I'll come again. Your little friend,

Wesley Tolliver.

Ladies' Coats and Wearables for Winter

We have received a liberal supply of Ladies' Coats, Shawls, Scarfs, Sweaters, Dress Skirts, Underwear, etc., which we are offering at prices below competitive concerns, and since the demand is running ahead of the supply on above goods and jobbers' stocks practically exhausted the sooner you supply your wants the better. We sound this note of warning, believing a word to the wise is sufficient.

The Lurid Glow of Doom was seen in the red face, hands and body of the little son of H. M. Adams, of Honietta, Pa. His awful plight from eczema had for five years defied all remedies and baffled the best doctors who said the poisoned blood had affected his lungs and nothing could save him. "Put," writes his mother, "seven bottles of Electric Bitters completely cured him." For eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, sores and all blood disorders and rheumatism Electric Bitters is supreme. Guaranteed.

IT'S DONE.

Dear Editor,

My time is about up for the old bird, so am sending a little "short green" which I think is good for one almighty dollar. I am about to leave my home in the good county of Knott and I want the Eagle sent to me at a new address. I want it to sail out and up the north fork of the Kentucky, always keeping the grand old Cumberland mountain on its right wing. With its eagle eye it should watch the road by the mouth of Millstone, mouth of Boone, by S. J. Wright's and Abraham Potter's and on up to Payns gap, thence to the forks of the road and there pause long enough to view the spot where Capt. Nat Collins had the glory of capturing a load of fodder from the rebels in '61, then down the mountain to where the martyred Garfield made a gallant charge up the branch to where there was no army in the Pound Gap; then glide on down Elkhorn to Blue Head Rock, one of the grandest sights in Kentucky; then still on in the shadow of the Cumberland mountain to the Breaks and there pause long enough to view that sight, then on down the gentle Big Sandy and hover down at Elkhorn City, whose P. O. name is Praise, and have written on one of its wings,

C. A. Collins.

HIS FIRST.

Dear Editor,

For the first time I write you. I am papa's youngest son and we live on Wolfpen of Carrs Fork. I am going to school and doing nicely. My teacher takes the Eagle and likes it. I advise all boys to leave off liquor and go to school. I have missed but two days this school. I am 17 years old.

Near Death in Big Pond.

It was a thrilling experience to Mrs. Ida Soper to face death. "For years a severe lung trouble gave me intense suffering," she writes, "and several times nearly caused my death. All remedies failed and doctors said I was incurable. Then Dr. King's New Discovery brought quick relief and a cure so permanent that I have not been troubled in twelve years." Mrs. Soper lives in Big Pond, Pa. It works wonders in coughs and colds, sore lungs, hemorrhages, laryngitis, asthma, croup, whooping cough and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed at Whitesburg Drug Co.

About Sept. 27 a medium sized brindle cow came to my place and took up and is there yet. She is white faced and somewhat mottled and gives milk out of one teat only. Owner can have her by paying for keeping and for this notice. Green Collier, Eolia, Kentucky.

An Ex-Letcher Girl Writes

Dear Editor: Since the Eagle has stretched forth her glorious and magnificent wings over the Cumberland and Black mountains and found a place of rest in our home we desire to thank you and its correspondents for the intelligence shown in its pages. I am not very familiar with a great number of local newspapers but I believe yours is the most delightful newspaper issued in our entire hill country. I can scan its broad wings and at a glance see what is going on in and around old Whitesburg. But, hush, hark, listen! What sound is that that falls on my ear? 'Tis the battle of the ballots, a harmless firing. No blood will be shed on account of this battle but after its close many a heart will tremble and quake and many a patriot will find rest in the full hole and draw comfort from the cool, mossy rocks. So I thought, but others just as great have traveled the same way and met the same fate. Mr. editor, I love the people over there, for I too, was bred in old Kentucky. Not where the meadow grasses bloom but where the hillside ragweeds grow and still have the sunshine of the country in my face and manner, too.

I really have to confess (tho' I am sorry I do) that the Eagle is ahead of my own town paper and is going to ever be far its superior unless the Appalachian editor wakes up. The only reason I can give for the Eagle being best is that both the Eagle editor and printer are married and don't care to tell all they know while the printer of the Appalachian is still single and afraid to do so well for fear the girls would visit him too much. I believe the printer of the Eagle is doing much for the upbuilding of Letcher and adjoining counties, and of course it is still true that two heads are better than one, even if one is a goat's head—and that is where the editor comes in with his many seemingly witty but useful sayings.

May the Eagle ever fly and may there ever be abundant food for the old bird and all the little ones. Hiss! a dog! I'll hop off.

An Appalachia Cat.

NOTICE! CORRESPONDENTS!

During the rush and on account of so much work on hand that crowded the life out of our columns we were forced to leave out some of our best correspondence. We were sorry to do so but it was our only way to do it. Now, the election being over and having settled down to make the Eagle better than ever before we want all our correspondents to wake up. Let everyone get a move on, cover every inch of your territory and send it in. Try to get it in not later than Monday for publication in Eagle of Thursday following. Hello! Appalachia, Jeremiah, Mayking, Sergeant, Mandrake, Line Fork, and all other points!

Beard Pleased the Czar.

It is recorded that Ivan the Terrible was so delighted with the beard of one of the envoys sent him by Queen Mary of England that he "smiled at the sight of it, and after dinner played with it as with a favorite toy."

HIS THANKS

To my many friends residing in Magisterial district No. 1 I wish to extend my thanks for the handsome majority given me over my opponents for the office of Justice of the Peace.

Not boasting, but this is a majority I am certainly proud of, and if I am commissioned and serve the people during the next four years I hope they may be proud of their selection. Again thanking you, I am,

Yours truly,
W. M. Blair.

VERY SAD ACCIDENT

Uncle Tep Combs Falls From Barn, Breaking His Neck.

Last Saturday morning Uncle Tep Combs, who lived just up Crafts Colly a short distance came to town and after looking to some business affairs and mixing around among his friends at this place returned home. Going to the barn he put up his horse and from all indications climbed upon a shed or loft to get some fodder for the animal and slipped and fell to the ground, striking on some rocks and breaking his neck. When found he had been dead but a few minutes. In last week's Eagle mention was made of the death of Aunt Sarah, the aged wife of Uncle Tep, on Monday, so within five days this aged couple passed from earth. They were two of our best and most highly respected citizens and will be much missed by a large circle of friends. They were each nearing the four-score mark and had each lived exemplary lives. We extend to the family and friends the hand of sympathy in their hour of great bereavement.

"Dabber" Democrat.

Dear Editor,
I am a terrible "dabber" Democrat and I am so glad that we succeeded in getting a little "milk" out of the election. I am a reader of the Eagle and I don't see how anybody that wants to be anybody or know anything could miss reading it for a single issue. My papa is Andy Crase. Now, Mr. Editor, I am just a wee bit of a girl and I want you to print this. Your friend,

The Best Food for Workers.

The best food for those who work with hand or brain is never high priced.

The best example of this is found in Quaker Oats. It stands at the top among foods that supply nourishment and vigor, without taxing the digestion, and yet it is the least expensive food one can eat.

This great food value, and low cost make it an ideal food for families who want to get the greatest benefit from what they eat.

Laborers, factory or farm hands, fed plentifully on Quaker Oats, will work better and with less fatigue than if fed on almost any other kind of food. All of these facts were proved and very interesting information about human foods were gathered by Professor Fisher of Yale University in 1908. In addition to the regular package Quaker Oats is packed in large sized family packages either with or without china dishes.

COVERS LETCHER COUNTY LIKE THE BLUE CANOPY.

THURSDAY, NOV. 11, 1909.

There are those who cannot understand why Thanksgiving comes in November.

The report of the death of Roosevelt in the wilds of Africa spread over the country like wildfire but it proved to be a fabrication of the rankest sort. The ex-President still chases wild beasts on the dark continent.

Brother Eads, of the Hanlan Enterprise, says that if the Republicans were to nominate the devil and place him under the log cabin it would support him. From what we have read of the action of a big majority of the voters of the 26th Judicial district, Bro. Eads is on a mighty cold track.

As an example of the non-partisan spirit that pervades the land, President Taft, a few days ago while sojourning in Georgia, permitted himself to be decorated in Confederate badges and ribbons and wore them throughout the day. The liberal minded men of the nation, the men who see merit rather than politics, are becoming more and more plentiful while the peanut politician pins his faith to a log cabin or a rooster and says, "to the devil with the country, so one or the other of these win."

Now that the election is all over it becomes the duty of every citizen to turn his attention to business. The officers elected will be in a sense what the people make them. It is the duty of all good citizens to show their faith in the principles upon which this government is founded by standing by the will of the majority. The vote of the people as registered in an untrammelled way should and does commend respect by all patriots. The love of country is next to the love of God. In all the annals of history there is no example that elicits a deeper and more genuine respect than that of going forth to suffer and bleed for one's country. Now, whether you believe it or not, many of the men who shouldered the responsibility of office in the recent election did so from pure love of country alone. Under these circumstances and under the duty we owe to the will of the majority it becomes every man's duty to help hold up the arms of those who obligate themselves to enforce the law. To do otherwise is anarchy outright and none of us are anarchists. The new officers will do their duty. Quit clamoring and fretting and get down to business.

Re-Affirms Campaign Pledges

To the People of Letcher Co.

The election being over I wish to say that I still believe in the principles I advocated before the election as firmly as I did then. I believed then that they were sound and I yet believe so, and I shall do all in my power to carry out every pledge I made during the campaign. I made no statement that I did not believe to be true and my opinions have not changed since the election. I feel very grateful to the people for the liberal support given me. It is my highest present ambition to be able to make you a good officer and to that end I invoke the aid and guidance of Almighty God in the faithful and impartial performance of every duty that may come before me as your servant. Very resp.,
R. Monroe Fields,

SIGHT RESTORED

On the night of the election as a crowd of us were returning to our homes, Snade Adams, who was riding in the rear, and on a blind mule at that, suddenly cried out, "Dr. Fitzpatrick is elected beyond doubt, my mule has found his sight!" We stopped to investigate and to all appearances the mule was skipping along over the ground as though he could have seen a pin in the road. Now, whether or not the mule has received his sight I do not know, but the above is the conversation that took place.

AN ODE TO THE MOUNTAINS,

(By N. M. W.)

At the dawn of creation
Far back in the ages,
Ere things had been written
On history's bright pages,
In the shaping and arranging
Of Him who speaks and 'tis done,
There was a special provision
By this All-wise One.

This wisdom stretched forth
From the parson's high
And moulded, shaped the matter,
To please its comely eye.
O'er hill and plain and dale,
Like lightning's rapid move,
It lighted these mountains,
There to remain and love.

On the hills of old Judea
And on the plains of their feet,
His eye looked ever forward
His creation there to greet.
On historic Golgotha's hill,
His features bathed in tears,
Stood the King of all the earth
To conquer all our fears.

Never, never in the valleys,
But high, high upon the hills,
Have blessings ever descended
And that to cure human ills.
It was thus in Divine Creation
When all things passed before,
He showed us a thousand blessings,
Yes, a thousand of them or more.

Our hills, He decked in splendor,
"Nearer than placed wealth untold;
Above, the purest air and water
Worth more than gaudy gold.
Made our mountain full of vigor,
Our women pure and true,
And our hills were filled with virtue,
Yes, filled through and through.

When God shall end his purpose
And step from off his throne,
When everything terrestrial
Shall tremble, fear and groan,
Above the moving equator,
Ducked in gorgeous frills,
Will come in solid phalanx
The people of the hills.

O, God, then King of Heaven,
Grant us this special prayer:
Teach us to do our duty
In all things just and fair,
Teach us to live in righteousness,
In union and in love,
That when our tasks are ended
We may reign in peace above.

The above few lines, tho' composed in about fifteen minutes for a former issue of this paper, express, as far as is in us to do so, our real opinion of the hill country. Poetry is the real breath of the heart and while it may not be set to poetic measure and jingle to the tune of fancy it is a genuine picture of the soul within.

The Case of Charity.
Charity begins at home and in most cases is proof against wanderlust.

Child's Asthetic Soiled.
At Holiver, Pa., recently, Mary H. told, eight years old, cumulated sulks. She grieved over the death of her mother. "Papa, I am going to shoot," she said, and before he had time to realize the meaning of the words she had fired a bullet into her temple.

Planning for New Business.
A leading German electrical company has in contemplation the erection of a new plant for the exclusive manufacture of ships and aeroplanes.

A CARD.

To all the People of Letcher Co.:

In my canvass for County Judge I made my appeal to all the people of our county for their support and now that the election is over I desire to extend to you all my earnest thanks for whatever support you gave me. In the canvass and in the management of my campaign I tried to be, as much as possible, my own adviser and should I be inaugurated County Judge of your county I will proceed along the same lines. I made no promises in order to win the support of our people and have no promises to make now except I shall endeavor to take the situation in hand as I find it and deal with it as it presents itself. I hold no malice or enmity against any man who went out in the field and fought me openly like a soldier. I take it that every man had a right to so elect. Now, in the discharge of any official duty that may come to me, I shall act with an eye single to Letcher county's interest and every man's rights and interests under the law as I see it shall and will be protected. Before closing this little card I further desire to earnestly thank the good women and fair ladies of our county for their loyal efforts in my behalf. You and yours shall be protected. Again extending to all my heartfelt thanks for all favors of whatever nature, I beg to still remain,
Very truly,

SERVED AS HIS LADY'S MAID.

Romantic Manner of Wooing That Won Love of Young Russian Widow for Her Admirer.

A St. Petersburg paper publishes details of a Russian romance in which figures the wealthy and beautiful young Baroness Ursoff, the widow of a distinguished Russian government official.

All the young cavaliers of Moscow were hopelessly in love with her. The baroness, however, rejected all attempts to obtain an introduction to her and lived in perfect seclusion, attended only by an elderly relative, some months ago a young peasant girl began to visit the residence of the baroness, offering the servants cheap articles for sale. Subsequently the baroness used to buy different articles from the peasant, who was intelligent, had good manners and considerable conversational talents.

The baroness eventually asked the girl whether she would enter her service as a lady's maid. She agreed and discharged her duties to perfection for a fortnight and then revealed "herself" as a young Russian nobleman named Maximoff, who, taking advantage of his fair hair and complexion, had masqueraded as a domestic servant to break down the barriers with which the beautiful baroness had surrounded herself.

The baroness was so much impressed by his extraordinary perseverance that she became engaged to him, and the marriage took place a few days ago.

No, Dog!

Heard in the strict school of "Yes, sir!" and "No, sir!" addressed without thought of servility to all elders and betters, I find this a season of rare courtesy and gentility.

Well do I remember that awesome scene at my father's table when a stout and rebellious little sister, smothering with disappointment over some denied dainty, answered "No!" to a well meant proffer of a less desirable dish.

"No, dog? or No, cat?" my father inquired with ominous calm. "No, dog!" the sturdy lass recklessly replied.

I quake even now at the thought of the breathless pause which followed, and draw a veil over the painful aftermath.—Appleton's.

COVERS LETCHER COUNTY LIKE THE BLUE CANOPY.

THURSDAY, NOV. 11, 1909.

There are those who cannot understand why Thanksgiving comes in November.

The report of the death of Roosevelt in the wilds of Africa spread over the country like wildfire but it proved to be a fabrication of the rankest sort. The ex-President still chases wild beasts on the dark continent.

Brother Eads, of the Harlan Enterprise, says that if the Republicans were to nominate the devil and place him under the log cabin it would support him. From what we have read of the action of a big majority of the voters of the 26th Judicial district, Bro. Eads is on a mighty cold track.

As an example of the non-partisan spirit that pervades the land, President Taft, a few days ago while sojourning in Georgia, permitted himself to be decorated in Confederate badges and ribbons and wore them throughout the day. The liberal minded men of the nation, the men who see merit rather than politics, are becoming more and more plentiful while the peanut politician pins his faith to a log cabin or a rooster and says, "to the devil with the country, so one or the other of these win."

Now that the election is all over it becomes the duty of every citizen to turn his attention to business. The officers elected will be in a sense what the people make them. It is the duty of all good citizens to show their faith in the principles upon which this government is founded by standing by the will of the majority. The voice of the people as registered in an untrammelled way should and does command respect by all patriots. The love of country is next to the love of God. In all the annals of history there is no example that elicits a deeper and more genuine respect than that of going forth to suffer and bleed for one's country. Now, whether you believe it or not, many of the men who shouldered the responsibility of office in the recent election did so from pure love of country alone. Under these circumstances and under the duty we owe to the will of the majority it becomes every man's duty to help hold up the arms of those who obligate themselves to enforce the law. To do otherwise is anarchy outright and none of us are anarchists. The new officers will do their duty. Quit clamoring and fretting and get down to business.

Re-Affirms Campaign Pledges

To the People of Letcher Co.,

The election being over I wish to say that I still believe in the principles I advocated before the election as firmly as I did then. I believed then that they were sound and I yet believe so, and I shall do all in my power to carry out every pledge I made during the campaign. I made no statement that I did not believe to be true and my opinions have not changed since the election. I feel very grateful to the people for the liberal support given me. It is my highest present ambition to be able to make you a good officer and to that end I invoke the aid and guidance of Almighty God in the faithful and impartial performance of every duty that may come before me as your servant. Very resp.,
R. Monroe Fields,
Whitesburg, Nov. 8.

SIGHT RESTORED

On the night of the election as a crowd of us were returning to our homes, Snade Adams, who was riding in the rear, and on a blind mule at that, suddenly cried out, "Dr. Fitzpatrick is elected beyond doubt, my mule has found his sight!" We stopped to investigate and to all appearances the mule was skipping along over the ground as though he could have seen a pin in the road. Now, whether or not the mule has received his sight I do not know, but the above is the conversation that took place.

AN ODE TO THE MOUNTAINS.

(By N. M. W.)

At the dawn of creation
Far back in the ages,
Ere things had been written
On history's bright pages,
In the shaping of all things
Of Him who speaks and 'tis done,
There was a special provision
By this All-wise One.

This wisdom stretched forth
From the parapet on high
And modelled, shaped the matter,
To please its omniscient eye,
O'er hill and plain and dale,
Like lightning's rapid move,
It lighted on the mountains,
There to remain and love.

On the hills of old Judea
And on the plains of their feet,
His eye looked ever forward
His creation there to greet.
On historic Golgotha's hill,
His features lathed in tears,
Stood the King of all the earth
To conquer all our fears.

Never, never in the valleys,
But high, high upon the hills,
Have blessings ever descended
And that to cure human ills.
It was thus in Divine Creation
When all things passed before,
He showed us a thousand blessings,
Yes, a thousand of them or more.

Our hills, He decked in splendor,
Nestled them in peace and love;
Above, the purest air and water—
Worth more than gaudy gold.
Made our mountain full of vigor,
Our women pure and true,
And our hills were filled with virtue,
Yes, filled through and through.

When God shall end his purpose
And step from off his throne,
When everything terrestrial
Shall tremble, fear and groan,
Above the moving air and rain,
Tucked in gorgeous frills,
Will come in solid phalanx
The people of the hills.

O, God, thou King of Heaven,
Grant us this special prayer:
Teach us to do our duty
In all things just and fair,
Teach us to live in righteousness,
In union and in love,
That when our tasks are ended
We may reign in peace above.

The above few lines, tho' composed in about fifteen minutes for a former issue of this paper, express, as far as is in my power, our real opinion of this land country. "Thou didst have more ambition than judgment; go 'way back and sit down," said the manager of the Bullhole as a crowd of defeated candidates made their entrance.

Hon. W. W. Tinsley, of Harboursville, has been here inspecting for the State our Circuit and County Clerks' offices. From what we have understood he is finding the offices in excellent shape.

Nearly every independent candidate was elected in strong Democratic Fayette county. Its dangerous to luck up against a clean independent ticket anywhere.

The election passed off over in Virginia as it did most everywhere else but the editor of the Appalachian is still fighting away. Won't you desist a moment, Bro. Ellison?

If at first you don't succeed, Run, run again;

If you land within the hole, Perch yourself upon a pole,

Be more determined in your soul—And run, run again.

Mr. Yonts came to town Tuesday evening and it is now currently reported that he will file a contest against Dr. Fitzpatrick in the County Judge's election.

Bring on your job work. We have the stock on hand to do anything and shall be glad to do your work.

Our friend James H. Adams, Republican nominee for Justice over in Laurel county went down in defeat. We are sorry, Jim.

Uncle John Jones who lost a mule about the election, says the poor "critter" was kidnapped and taken to Carr after a load of whisky.

What looks like reliable information states that Eld. Tom Hopkins did actually wallop Judge Ford for County Judge over in Pike.

We publish a table of the votes cast in this county for the various candidates at the recent election. It would be well to preserve same for future reference.

Hon. Henry R. Yonts was in town the last of the week. He seemed in the best of spirits and says he will be a candidate for County Judge four years from now.

We have 'phoned across the country and heard it, all they say, And your folks are well, dear friend,

As we go to press to-day.

Some fellow went into the booth to vote in the west ward but after looking over the "chances" decided he could not take the medicine so returned a blank ballot to the board and walked out.

Hereafter we have decided to send the Eagle no more than three months to anyone on credit. The grain is too great on us to carry a man longer than this and then not even get thanked for it. It is certainly no accommodation to us to write a man's name on our books and then have to beg for the pay. Kindly treat us as you would like to be treated.

A deal was consummated a few days ago whereby Ben Holbrook becomes owner of the Sam Collins livery property at this place and the benefit of the mail route from this place to Eolia.

Some months ago David C. Mullins bought of Lewis Bros. the Caudill mill property below town. Now we are informed that Lewis Bros. have bought back the property. The place is being much improved.

Five thousand dollars, perhaps more, in one and two dollar bills, if reports be true, were circulated in this county a few days ago. Divide up, gentlemen, divide up. Strange how quick money sometimes goes to hole. Ain't it?

From reports published about the election throughout Kentucky it seems to have been a landslide for the Democrats. The good roads constitutional amendment may have lost by a small majority, tho' there may be some hopes for it yet.

The cold winter is standing at the door, the long winter evenings are at hand. Yes, it will soon be a good time to sit around the fire and read good books and newspapers. The Eagle wants to be one of your companions on this winter journey. A "wheelbarrow" is the price winter or summer.

Reports from the Bullhole state that the defeated candidates are all out. It humblyeth the pride of any man to be sent to this awfully disgusting hole, but does not injure in the least a man's standing among his friends. (The last few words are added merely for encouragement.)

Someone asked us a few days ago, "How do you suppose it feels to be a vote-seller?" We answered, "about as well as it does to be a vote-buyer." The condition of affairs that sometimes arise on account of elections is really thickening for de-

Mrs. Maxwell Johnson, Tampa, Fla., writes: "Cardui cured me after doctors and everything else had failed. I had been suffering with numb spells ever since I was 16 years old. One day I decided to take Cardui. I have now taken 6 bottles and I can say that it has cured me. I advise all suffering women to give Cardui a long and fair trial."

The First Postage Stamp. The postage stamp made its first appearance in 1839. Its invention is due to James Chalmers, a printer of Dundee, who died in 1863. England adopted the adhesive stamp, according to a decree of December 21, 1839, and issued the first stamps for public use on May 6, 1840. A year later they were introduced in the United States and Switzerland, and soon after in Bavaria, Belgium and France.

Fatherland, Mother Tongue. "Can you tell me why it is," asked Mr. Henpeck, in a lapse in the conversation of his spouse, "that when they speak of their native country, it always is the fatherland, but when they speak of the language they invariably call it 'the mother tongue'?"

Executioner Also General Thug. The public executioner at Yakaerinsk, southern Russia, has been executed by his successor. He was sentenced to death over a month ago for aiding his leisure on the high roads, plundering, and frequently murdering travelers.

Rosie Had Charma, Too. Rosie and Ethel, though only five and seven, were bitter enemies, and quarreled continually. One day I overheard a conversation between them. "I've got dimples," said Rosie, "you haven't any dimples?" "No," answered Ethel, regretfully. Then she brightened as she looked at her enemy. "No—but I've got moles!"—Hilfenator.

Blackbird with Two Heads. At Linwood, near Paisley, Scotland, a blackbird, which is the unique professor of two almost distinctly formed heads, has been seen. It has two bills, and has been seen to pick and make use of both, but whether it can pass food through both cannot yet be definitely stated.

Willie Made a Discovery. Willie, aged six, came to me, his face so wreathed in smiles that his pig nose seemed to be turned back around his freckles. "What do you think?" he said, "papa was dead—my little boy." My incredulity added fuel to his already intense amusement. Between his chuckles he assured me: "Yes, he was."—Hilfenator.

Safe Rules for Living. We ought always to deal justly, not only to those who are just to us, but likewise with those who endeavor to injure us. And this too, for fear lest by rendering them evil for evil we should fall into the same vice. So we ought likewise to have friendship, that is to say, humanity and good will for all, who are of the same nature with us.—Hilfenator.

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

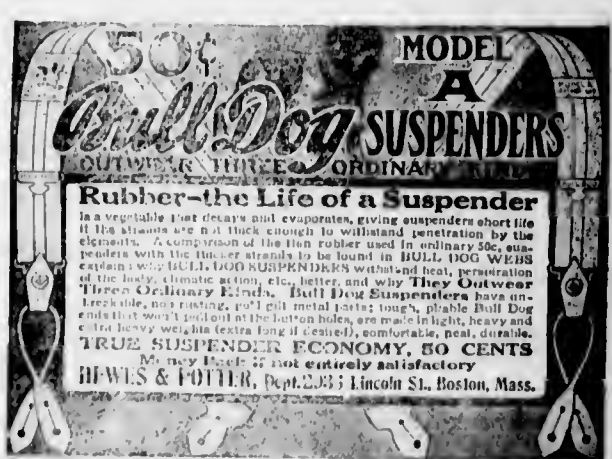

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not irritate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

The Man Who Insures In the Citizens Life

Is providing an INCONTESTABLE CASH ESTATE for his family—an Estate that cannot be taken from them to satisfy any claims against him—claims to which his other property is subject; an Estate that is created by a small yearly deposit, which, if invested in anything else, would take YEARS AND YEARS to reach an amount equal to what the Insurance Policy brings—EVEN THOUGH DEATH MAY OCCUR IN THE FIRST YEAR.

You Don't Have to Die to Win.

Citizens Life policies are ten, fifteen or twenty-year investment contracts, redeemed by the Company in cash at the end of their term, thus being profitable to YOU if you live, and to YOUR FAMILY if you die. Where can you find a better or safer plan of laying up money for your old age?

You Don't Tie Your Money Up.

Citizens Life policies provide for LOANS EACH YEAR AT FIVE PER CENT. Wouldn't you feel better if you knew you could secure at any time a GUARANTEED LOAN AT FIVE PER CENT., without seeking security, making mortgages, or asking favors? AND THE POLICY PAYS THE LOAN IF YOU DIE.

The Company Helps You Pay—

—Extends your time if you can't pay, or gives you a cash value AT ANY TIME, if you want to quit.

You Have No Guarantee on Life.

You can't afford to put off insuring your life. YOU ARE BOUND TO DIE AND YOU DON'T KNOW WHEN. The longer you delay, the more it will cost you. THIS MAY BE YOUR LAST CHANCE!

F. S. KAHN, Traveling Representative, will be glad to show you the rates at your age, without any obligation on your part. See or address him at Whitesburg, Ky.

NEWS

These are cold, bleak November days.

The leaves are falling, falling everywhere.

The Eagle will grow better and better. Why not?

Yesterday was inspection day with the K.S.G. boys.

Why, bless your life, child, stamps will pay subscriptions.

The last edition of election talk is now heard on the street corners.

Monday was Quarterly Court and a sprinkle of citizens were here.

Judge-elect Fitzpatrick was very much indisposed the first of the week.

John D. Blair, a good citizen of Arminta, was here Tuesday on business.

We want to buy at least two bushels of shelled beans and two fat turkeys.

It seems to be well authenticated that W.G. Caudill's majority over Leslie Hogg is 61.

We are not so up-to-now this week as we will be. It takes time to get over a cyclone.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Stamper, of Roxana, were pleasant business callers in town Monday.

Attorney Ira Fields and Collector Sam Collins left Sunday for Hazard to attend the Perry Circuit Court.

Henry Brown, one of our best teachers, will leave soon for Richmond to attend the Kentucky State Normal School.

Dr. Cook was a business caller here a few days ago. There are not many men in the county more popular than he.

It was currently reported that Attorney Howard had gone to the Bullhole, but this is a mistake. He is away on business.

Out of over 500 voters who voted at Whitesburg recently Uncle Miles Webb was perhaps the oldest. He is quite feeble.

The public school at this place still maintains a commendable record. Adams and Hale are as true to their calling as the needle to the pole.

I am in the fur business this season and will pay the best market prices for all kinds of furs. Save yours for me, George Ison, Bilvia, Ky.

"Thou did'st have more ambition than judgment; go 'way back and sit down," said the Telety's Plan for Justice.

Justice demands that you should give from people no more than you give them. But there is a way of weighing your work and the work of others of which you avail yourself; besides, you may at any time be disappointed for work, and you will have to make use of the work of other people. Therefore try to give more than you take so as not to be unjust. —Telety.

Birds in Winter.
Though birds have a much higher temperature than man's—man's is 98, while theirs is 107—they suffer cruelly from the winter cold. In a mountain country it is not uncommon to find sheep with dead birds fastened on their backs. The little, cold creatures struggle in the sheep's wool to get warm, their feet become entangled in the fleece, and they starve to death.

In Praise of Kind Words.
Kind words produce their own image on men's souls; and a beautiful image it is. They soothe, and quiet, and comfort the hearer. They shame him out of his sour and morose and unkind feelings. We have not yet begun to use kind words in such abundance as they ought to be used.—Pans.

Opinion That Counts.
Public opinion is a weak tyrant compared with our own private opinion. What a man thinks of himself, that it is which determines or rather indicates his fate.—Thoreau.

Burns' Favorite Word.
A contributor has had the curiosity to look up Mr. J. R. Field's "Burns Concordance," and measure the amount of space devoted to certain words. In the result he found that Burns used the word "heart" more than any other word, the quotations under this word filling no fewer than six of the closely printed columns. "Lass," "friend" and "heaven" come next, each having about two columns.

Opposed to the Beard.
Some physicians say that the beard is a repository for harmful germs, which are kept alive by the warm breath being constantly breathed upon them.

Time's Change.
"How girls do alter," said the mother. "There's Christie, now. When she was a girl she wouldn't sit in a room without a light in case there might be a man in it; now, three nights a week she won't have a light in the sitting-room because there is a man in it."

Wealth Not Always to Be Envid.
Better the poorest drudge in the city whose heart bubbles over with affection for his family, than the rich man whose heart is clogged with gold and all its fountain of life pent up and refused free course.—Exchange.

Origin of "Living on Tack."
The phrase, "living on tack," dates back to the seventeenth century, when a tradesman's bill was known as a ticket.

THE

KANSAS CITY, MEXICO & ORIENT

RAILWAY CO.

THE GREAT CONTINENTAL TRUNK LINE RAILWAY, WHICH IS JUST BEING COMPLETED from Kansas City, through Oklahoma, Texas, Mexico, to the Gulf of California, will on

TUES. MORNING, NOVEMBER 16

Run a Homeseekers Train From Middlesboro, Ky., to San Angelo,
Tex., with Stop Over Privileges at Way Points in Oklahoma & Texas.

This train will be under the personal supervision of John B. Hurst, formerly of Middlesboro, who is now Emigration Agent for said Railway Co. for Ky., Tenn. and Va., headquarters at Middlesboro. Round trip, with 25 days return limit, only $37. Route via St. Louis, Kansas City and Wichita. This new land has opened up the choicest section of the great state of Texas. And this company has thousands of acres of the choicest farm lands in the whole world which it is anxious to sell at actual cost, to real home seekers, on liberal terms.

ANY QUANTITY FROM 40 ACRES UP

This is no longer the land of promise "only" but the land of fulfillment. 40 to 50 bushels corn, 30 to 60 bushels wheat, 1-2 to 1 1-2 bales cotton, 2 to 4 tons Alfalfa per acre are some of the yields produced on the lands we have to offer you at the low price of $6 to $30 per acre, according to quality and distance from our railroad and the cities that are "magic like" springing up along the Orient railroad.

Good churches, good schools, good roads, pure clear water, good climate, and the healthiest country on the continent, are some of the other advantages we offer you with a home on the plains of West Texas.

If you have consumption, or other lung troubles, you had better prolong your life by seeking a home in this sunny clime where the air is dry and invigorating.

A crop of wheat then cotton on same land in one season in this section of Texas. Can you beat it? All kinds fruits and vegetables produced in temperate zone produce unprecedented yields in West Texas.
